WOMAN ROBBED AT NORTH COUNTRY PLAZA

Lebanon, NH - On June 18, 2007 at approximately 12:30 pm, a female was robbed in the parking lot of North Country Plaza while standing next to her car. She was approached by a thin, white male, late teens to early 20's, wearing a blue hat, blue t-shirt and possibly blue jeans. The male approached her from behind and demanded jewelry that she was wearing. An object of some sort was pushed into her back mid-section which she believed to be some sort of weapon. An amount of jewelry was taken and the male fled on foot across Plainfield Road (Route 12-A) toward Friendly's and B.J.'s Wholesaler.

The female was alone at the time and at the far end of the parking lot. Officers were on scene within two minutes and searched the area. A New Hampshire State Police Officer, who was in the area, assisted in the search with a bloodhound. The track was unsuccessful.

The investigation into the matter continues with ongoing investigations. Anyone who saw an individual possibly matching the description of the suspect, or any suspicious behavior, are urged to call the Lebanon Police Department Detective Division at (603) 448-1212.
